Announcement for Vice Presidential Candidacy

Dear Sisters and Brothers,

After much reflection and deliberation I have come to the very serious decision that I will be seeking the position of the Vice Presidency of the American Postal Workers Union in our 2016 National Election of Officers.

Having served as a National Business Agent for the APWU during the past 29 years I firmly believe my extensive experience as an Advocate, Negotiator, Mediator and Educator will now – at this moment in time – best serve all the Membership of the APWU at the National – Washington DC level.

It is my mission as Vice President of our Union to deploy an unprecedented combination of contributions of value and achievements in strategic contract enforcement and educational production initiatives.

My wide-ranging, proven record in negotiations, arbitration preparation and presentation, resolution composition and procurement and educational materials' creation and teaching brings to the APWU's National Vice Presidential table a never-before-seen wealth of experience, knowledge and leadership.

I am ready with the serious commitment necessary to go toe – to – toe with postal management to ensure workers' rights are protected and the Collective Bargaining Agreement is enforced.

In the coming months I am excited by and look forward to the ongoing dialogue and exchange about where our Union is and where our Union must be as we move forward, further into the 21st Century.

Rest assured, I am fully and seriously committed to the future ahead for our Union and will continue to make the welfare of each and every Member my #1, top priority.

Join with me – on this journey – to secure the future of the American Postal Workers Union.

Yours, for the future of our Union,

Jeff Kehlert
